GENERAL INFORMATION

• No alcohol consumption on passenger ferries. • Pets and wheeled devices are not allowed. • Wheelchairs are allowed. • Stove fuel can be carried in approved containers on ferries, but not on the seaplane. • Lake Superior weather is cool throughout the year; for comfort bring a warm jacket.

Isle Royale's Recreation Fee Demonstration Program

Fee Categories	Rate and Explanation
Daily User Fee	$4.00 per person per day. Children 11 and under are exempt from the fee.
(Optional): Individual Season Pass	$50.00 This pass is valid from April 16 through October 31 of the year indicated. The pass covers the Daily User Fee for the person whose signature appears on the pass.
(Optional): Season Boat Rider Pass	$150.00 This pass is valid from April 16 through October 31 of the year indicated. The pass covers the Daily User Fee for all persons onboard, when affixed to the private boat. When camping, the pass is only valid for passengers included in and following the itinerary of the vessel.

RECREATION FEE DEMONSTRATION PROGRAM BENEFITS

Isle Royale National Park will continue to collect the $4.00 daily user fee for the 2002 season. Eighty percent of the collected fees are returned to Isle Royale National Park. The remaining 20 percent is used to support high priority National Park Service projects across the country. User fees collected in 2000 were used in 2001 to carry out various projects. Docks at Grace Island and Mott Island were replaced. Major dock repairs were completed at Beaver Island, Snug Harbor, and Daisy

Farm. Minor dock repairs occurred at various locations throughout the park. A trail reroute was completed on Raspberry Island and in the Feldtmann Lake area. Campgrounds at Hay Bay and Siskiwit Bay were extensively rehabilitated. Campground rehabilitation was begun at Malone Bay and is slated for completion in 2002. In the year 2002, user fee monies collected in 2001 will be used to support National Park Service projects and work on Isle Royale's backlog of maintenance and trail projects.
